

Pythagoras Petratos

Pythagoras Petratos is an economist, political scientist and engineer. He is currently Lecturer at the SAID Business School at the University of Oxford. He has completed postgraduate degrees at Cass Business School, City University, University of London and Oxford University. He was awarded a PhD from the University of London in 2009. One of his main research interests lies in defense policy and economics and particularly the economics and financing of information security. He is Visiting Fellow at Buckingham University and Visiting Professor at the University of Thessaly. He has also taught in postgraduate courses at the University of London, University of Crete and University of Peloponnese.

<https://esd-en.cnam.fr/pythagoras-petratos-1145872.kjsp?RH=1576511990513>