The members of the Security and Defense Research Team

The Security and Defence Research Team - Intelligence, Criminality, Crisis, Cyberthreats (SDRT-I3C) was built around a core of permanent Cnam's members. Their academic achievements enabled us to build the SDRT on a solid and clear basis.

In addition to this group of founding members, a set of teacher-researchers is associated with the SDRT while maintaining their full affiliation with their respective research centres. These lecturers will be called upon to collaborate on possible national research projects, to contributeto the scientific governance of the research axes and to supportthe development of the team and its multidisciplinary approach.

A set of associate experts is also associated to the SDRT, in order to bring adiplomacy, defence and security professionals perspective to our research work.
